NATA COLLECTION

Harmonious blend of traditional craftsmanship and contemporary design. Crafted with a commitment to environmental responsibility, this cabinet not only boasts a unique design inspired by local wisdom but also showcases the beauty of recycled materials.

Recycled teakwood is chosen not just for its exquisite aesthetic but for its eco-friendly credentials. Sourced from reclaimed teak, each piece carries a history of its own, contributing to the reduction of environmental impact. The teakwood's distinct grain patterns and weathered patina create a one-of-a-kind visual appeal, making each cabinet a testament to the beauty of sustainable living.

Complementing the recycled teakwood is the contemporary rattan weaving, a nod to cultural traditions expressed through a modern lens. The intricate rattan patterns add a touch of sophistication, providing a tactile element to the cabinet's design. This fusion of recycled teak and contemporary rattan celebrates both the rich heritage and evolving craftsmanship of the region.

STONE

Indonesia is known for its bounty of natural resources. The resources are utilized for a wide range of purposes. Natural stone is one of the environmental assets that can be found in rivers and mountains. There are various kinds of natural stones, each of them has its uniqueness of tones and patterns. Each stone has characteristics that turn unique. The colour, the texture, and the unusual shape embrace the natural touches in furniture. These concepts lead Cocoon Asia to begin developing a line of products from dual nature material which are teak wood with sliced stones.
